DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 10/1/2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
2. Applicants submit that Schwartz does not explicitly state that the HCl used was aqueous. This argument is not convincing because Schwartz is silent on whether HCl is aqueous or not. However, aqueous HCl is by far the most common solution of this acid. Therefore it is reasonable to assume that absent a statement to the contrary in Schwartz, that the HCl used was in fact aqueous.
3. Applicant argues that in the instant claims the HCl is added to give a clear solution. Schwartz is silent on whether the solution is clear or not. This argument is not convincing because it appears from the examples of the specification and the prior art, that the pH is most essential for the formation of the polymorphs. If there is a pH where Form V is formed and a pH where Form II is formed applicant should clearly point it out in the claims. The term clear in the claim is given very little weight because it is such a vague term.
4. Applicant is reminded that claim 1 simply requires a) mixing sertraline mandelate with a solvent such as butanol, b) reducing the pH using HCl and c) recovering sertraline hydrochloride Form V. Since all essential steps are required to be a claim the examiner submits that steps "a" and "b" are the required steps for the formation of sertraline Form V. Step "c" is simply the isolation of the already formed sertraline Form V.

5. With regards to the instant claims, it is clear that the steps are clearly taught in Schwartz. In particular, Schwartz in example 11 teaches instant claimed steps "a" and "b". Moreover, Schwartz suggests a correlation between Form V and Form II sertraline. Thus it is reasonable to assume that the example in Schwartz must possess some quantity of Form V sertraline because it has all the critical claimed steps.

6. Applicants submit other arguments which compared the instant invention to the invention of Schwartz. These arguments are not convincing because applicant has not rebutted the fact the Schwartz meets the broad limitations of claim 1. After all it is the claims that are compared to the prior art not applicant's invention.

The rejections are being maintained.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

8. Claims 1-3 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Schwartz.
See previous office action and arguments submitted herein.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schwartz. See previous office action and arguments submitted herein

Conclusion

11. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
